

I place a high value on XM radio's service, in particular the recent addition of a dedicated traffic and weather offering for Washington DC. I pay for this service and would be very upset if XM's ability to provide it were compromised due to regulatory action.

The FCC should allow the market to determine XM's fate, rather than the influence of an entrenched lobby supporting regular TV/radio broadcasters.